HEIST is the rallying cry of the 99%, who can take this moment in history and transform the American economic and political landscape through information-sharing and direct action.

The Heist Re-Imagine America Campaign has been created to get the movie and related resources into the hands of organizations, activists, educators, union locals, community leaders and inspired individuals dedicated to restoring economic justice in the United States.

“Heist comes out swinging... [It] has the virtue of taking the long view of a crisis that recent films like Inside Job and Too Big To Fail have only sketchily explored.”

Stephen Holden,
New York Times

“A Movie for a Movement.”

Linda Milazzo,
Huffington Post
